VOLUME XXXIII NO. 24

SEYMORE, INDIANA, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 14, 1914.

PRICE TWO CENTS

PLANS COMPLETED FOR K.O.P. MEETING

Stores Will be Closed From 2 Until 4 O'clock Thursday Afternoon During Public Session.

FIREWORKS DISPLAY AT NIGHT

Hundred of Visiting Knights From All Parts of Southern Indiana Are Expected.

Thomas J. Carling, of Georgia, supreme chancellor of the world of the K. of P. lodge, will attend the district meeting in this city tomorrow, a message having been received by the committee today. Mr. Carling has reached Indianapolis and Judge John M. Lewis, grand chancellor of Indiana, will meet him there tonight. Much interest is manifested in the presence of the supreme chancellor as he seldom attends a district meeting.

The arrangement committee has completed plans for the reception of the visitors tomorrow who will begin arriving on the early trains. Large delegations from several of the strong lodges in the district are expected and almost every lodge in southern Indiana will be well represented by delegates.

The large triangle bearing the emblem of the K. of P. order was placed in position this morning at the intersection of Second and Chestnut streets. The design was made by John Bartlett and is very attractive. It is wired for electricity and at night the colors of the order will be shown by means of colored lamps.

At a meeting of the committee last night it was decided to give a spectacular display of fire works about 6:30 o'clock Thursday night. The Seymour Military Band has been engaged to play at the noon hour and also at 6:30 o'clock.

The committee desires that the public be informed that the afternoon meeting will be open to everybody and that a very cordially invitation is extended. Ladies are especially invited to attend. The principal address will be given by James E. Watson, former congressman, and other well known men will speak.

The merchants have agreed to close their places of business from two until four o'clock tomorrow afternoon in order that their clerks might have a better opportunity to hear Mr. Watson's address.

A few changes have been made in the program as first announced and has been rearranged as follows: Music ..... Orchestra Invocation ..... Dr. F. A. Steele Vocal-Selected, Miss Adda Gasaway Music ..... Orchestra Welcome Address ..... Mayor John A. Ross.

Response ..... Union B. Hunt, P. G. C. Address ..... James E. Watson, P. G. C. Ballad and Operatic Singing ..... Elliott and Fasset

Short Addresses ..... Supreme and Grand Lodge Officers

Audie Lange Syne ..... Audience Music ..... Orchestra

Adjournment

It is the intention of the local committee to make this meeting the greatest one that will be held in any district this year. No other district meeting will be attended by such a large number of prominent K. of P. officers.

The members of the reception committee are:

Reception Committee: John M. Lewis, John A. Ross, W. L. Johnson, Fred Everback, T. S. Blish, N. Kaufman, E. A. Remy, Edward Rinne, Dr. G. G. Graessle, Peter Nichter, Robert Kidd, Geo. Peter, Ed. Hays, W. G. Geile, H. L. McCord, H. F. White, Geo. Bartlett and Dr. L. B. Hill.

COURT DENIES NEW TRIAL OF HINDERLIDER WILL CASE

Claude W. Hinderliser, Plaintiff, May Take Appeal to the Indiana Supreme Court.

After hearing the arguments on the motion for a new trial of the Hinderliser will case Judge Swails held that no material errors had been committed in the trial and overruled the motion of the plaintiff. The case was filed by Claude W. Hinderliser against Katherine Hinderliser, the widow of the late John W. Hinderliser, a wealthy land owner.

The plaintiff alleged that he was a son of the deceased and as such was entitled to a portion of the estate which was valued at about $100,000 and which by will was left to the widow.

The case was on trial for several days in the circuit court last term and was bitterly contested by the attorneys. The parties were represented by some of the best legal talent in the state. It is probable that the case will be carried to the supreme court where an effort will be made to have some of the alleged errors reviewed.

Frank Overturf, plaintiff in a suit on note, against Cyrus W. Lynch, et al., was given judgment in the sum of $461.73.

William H. Kaufman has filed a suit against Mary Steinkamp to foreclose a lien.

W. A. Smith has filed suit against James F. McCurdy on a chattel mortgage.

Susan Goodrick was granted a divorce Tuesday from John L. Goodrick, and her maiden name, Susan Waterbury, restored. She alleged cruel treatment.

FOURTY-SEVEN APPLICANTS AFTER RURAL ROUTE JOBS

Eligible List For Entire County Will be Prepared of Those Who Took Examination.

It will probably be several weeks before the papers are graded and the eligible list is prepared of the applicants for the rural mail routes who took the civil service examination in Brownstown, Saturday. The examination was conducted by Civil Service Secretary Milhous, of Indianapolis.

The examination showed that there are quite a large number of people in Jackson county who are desirous of securing positions in the rural route service. Forty-seven applicants took the examination. While it was called to supply a new route that will be established out of Norman Station in the near future the eligible list will be held and from it selections will be made for vacancies that may occur in that branch of the service at any office in the county.

Notice I. O. O. F.

Canton Seymour No. 11 will hold installation of officers Thursday night. All officers and members are urged to be present.

Paragon Typewriter Ribbons are the best

WE realized years ago, when we first started to make Paragon Ribbons, that they had to be the best—at whatever cost.

There was a special reason—the Remington Typewriter.

We make the Remington and we make the ribbon. We started to make the ribbon for the Remington. No writing machine can do better work than its ribbon, therefore none but the best ribbon is good enough for the Remington Typewriter.

So you see that Paragon Ribbons had to be the best—not only for their own sake but for the machine's sake. This double incentive has produced the best ribbon—the ribbon that outsells them all.

Of course there are other reasons for Paragon Ribbon leadership. We are the oldest typewriter ribbon manufacturers, with the longest experience, the best facilities, and the most complete knowledge of the qualities in a ribbon that typewriter users want and how to produce what they want. But all of these reasons have followed from the first. It was Remington leadership which demanded and produced Paragon leadership.

But do not think that the Paragon Ribbon is simply a Remington affair. What the Paragon Ribbon has done for the Remington, it has done, incidentally, for every other writing machine. Paragon Ribbons, of absolutely uniform quality, are made for all makes of typewriters.

WANTS MEN STENOGRAPHERS.

Government Can't Get Them at From $840 to $900 a Year.

The United States government is in urgent need of competent male stenographers and typewriters. The demand far exceeds the supply.

The civil service commission will hold examinations in the larger cities of the country Jan. 27. Salaries for shorthand writers are small, ranging from $840 to $900 a year, but opportunities for promotion are reasonably rapid, it is stated.

Sore Throat Don'ts.

When the children have sore throat, don't blister their necks with lamp oil. Don't torture them with a foul smelling piece of fat meat, wrapped about the neck. Don't imagine there is medical virtue in an old sock or piece of red flannel. Don't believe in antiquated superstitions.

A sore throat is a serious matter and is not to be healed by such make-believe remedies. The use of such methods is simply putting the patient to needless torture. Use a little sore throat wisdom and give them TONSILINE and the throat will heal quickly. 25 cents and 50 cents. Hospital Size $1.00. All Druggists.

VOLCANIC FIRES DESTROY ISLAND

Thousands Perish In a Great Japanese Disaster.

DWELT IN FANCIED SECURITY

For More Than a Hundred Years the Great Volcano of Sakurashima Had Been Quiet and Inhabitants of the Island Had Ceased to Have Fear of the Hidden Fires, Hence Did Not Heed Premonitory Mutterings.

Tokio, Jan. 14.—By a flood of fire from the Sakurashima volcano, which burst into activity on Jan. 11, the city of Kagoshima, with 64,000 inhabitants, was totally destroyed.

The three villages on the island of Sakurashima were blotted out by the molten lava which poured from the crater and 15,000 persons are believed to have perished there.

Nearly 100,000 persons are feared to be dead in the greatest volcanic disaster since the destruction of St. Pierre by the eruption of Mt. Pelee.

While the fact that millions of people were suffering the agonies of hunger and thousands were dying of starvation had been regarded here with comparative indifference, the people were galvanized into excitement by the disaster in the south, which, because of its spectacular character, awakened the imagination.

Pompeii's Doom Duplicated.

The whole volcanic range of Kinsuji burst into dangerous activity with startling suddenness after having been quiescent for more than a century. Kagoshima was obliterated exactly as ancient Pompeii was engulfed by the lava pouring from Vesuvius.

Hundreds of earthquake shocks were felt all through the islands. Railroads, telegraph lines and telephone lines were destroyed and nothing like an adequate account of the disaster has yet been received here.

According to dispatches received from Miyoshi, the main loss of life was apparently on the island of Sakurashima. After having been dormant for 130 years, the volcano, without warning, burst into activity and poured destruction on the villages on its slopes and base.

The eruption began in the forenoon last Sunday, according to the story of one of the survivors who managed to escape from Kagoshima. Many of the islanders hastened to the mainland a couple of miles away, abandoning their homes in terror, but by far the greater number had no time to escape.

Island a Mass of Flame.

The whole mountain seemed to split. New craters opened up in a score of places and lava and blazing ashes came down the slopes igniting everything in their path, until the entire island was a mass of flame.

The inhabitants of the western slope of the mountain were most affected by the first explosions. The survivors ran to the beach in a frenzy as the flames swept down the mountain side to their village. The people flocked to the beach opposite Kagoshima. There were no boats to take them to the mainland. The police of Kagoshima appropriated all the available craft in the harbor there and hastened to lend aid to the stricken islanders.

As the boats sped to the island the heat was intense and the flames advanced to the beach so rapidly that hundreds of persons were doomed before the rescuers could reach the island. The burning lava overtook them before the eyes of the men hastening to give them aid. Many were saved, however, and taken to Kagoshima.

Awe Turns to Terror.

It was not until three-quarters of an hour after the first eruption that the summit of the cone began to hurl forth lava and rocks. The fiery matter leaped to an immense height through dense volumes of smoke. Then the people of Kagoshima, who had been watching the terrific spectacle with awestruck interest, became alarmed for their own safety. As the series of earthquakes increased in number and intensity the people began to flee. The authorities ordered the inhabitants to abandon the city.

It was 7 o'clock in the evening when the entire top of the mountain was literally blown off with a terrible explosion. Smoke, ashes, huge rocks and lava shot into the air and spread over the sky as a vast canopy. Wide streams of the sizzling lava swept down the mountain sides in all directions, destroying everything before them. So tremendous was the force of the eruption that boulders weighing several tons were hurled not only the three miles across the bay into Kagoshima, but nine miles farther inland, where they dropped into the forests. Even at that distance their heat was so intense that fires were started, and before long the thousands fleeing from Kagoshima found themselves hemmed in by burning forests. Just how many persons managed to leave the island after the eruption started is not known, but it is pretty definitely established that but few ever reached the mainland.

London, Jan. 14.—At the cattle market at Lewes a big bullock strayed into a china shop and sauntered through lines of china, glass and earthenware the length of a whole block. The drover and the salesman finally induced the bullock to depart from the shop and the big animal walked calmly into the street. Not a thing was broken in the china store.

MISFORTUNE.

Disappointment and misfortune are not always evils. Disappointment will make us conversant with the noble part of our nature. It will chasten us and prepare us to meet accident on higher ground the next time. As Hannibal taught the Romans the art of war, so is all misfortune only a stepping stone to fortune.—H. D. Thoreau.

Idleness Is Death.

Most men cannot be idle and live. That sounds strange. It is true. It is a law of nature. If a man past forty leads an idle life the probability is that he will live to be fifty-seven years old. If he leads a harmonious and sufficiently occupied life he will live to be sixty-six. This is the experience of life insurance companies, which make a specialty of old age annuities.

The figures tell the story. Idleness is harder on the vital organs of mankind than work. To be idle is to die.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Wonderful Cough Remedy.

Dr. King's New Discovery is known everywhere as the remedy which will surely stop a cough or cold. D. P. Lawson of Eidsom, Tenn., writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the most wonderful cough, cold and throat and lung medicine I ever sold in my store. It can't be beat. It sells without any trouble at all. It needs no guarantee." This is true, because Dr. King's New Discovery will relieve the most obstinate of coughs and colds. Lung troubles quickly helped by its use. You should keep a bottle in the house at all times for all the members of the family. 50c and $1. Recommended by H. H. ## RENO'S KNELL AS DIVORCE MECCA

Six Months' Residence Law Made Little City Famous.

BUSY MART FOR FOUR YEARS

During That Period 2,216 Actions Were Filed There, and the Final Rush Was Heavy—More Recently the Number of Men in Quest of Quick Freedom Showed Marked Increase.

The Reno divorce colony isn't what it used to be. No longer will dissatisfied married folks be able to settle in the Nevada city for six months and then obtain freedom from their mates. That procedure will hereafter take one whole year.

With this change the foremost inducement to divorce seekers from other states is eliminated and the advantages of short residence requirement, as may yet be enjoyed in two other states, under equally broad bases for causes of action, can have its only sequel—the diverting of future divorce activities from Nevada.

Last Minute Rush.

For four years, from 1910 to 1914, Reno has occupied a spot light position in the attention of the world. The divorce colony during this four year period numbered 2,250 men and women. Ninety-one persons rushed in just as the curtain was about to fall during December, the last day breaking all daily records for the four years in the history of the "colony."

The last rush brought the number of divorce seekers from other states up to approximately 650—390 women and 260 men—making the proportion 60 and 40 per cent greater in favor of the men.

than it previously was. Until then fully 75 per cent of the total were women.

Reno's Four Years' Record.

The total number of actions filed during the colony's period of greatest activity extending through the past four years to Jan. 1, 1914, follows: 1910, 492 cases; 1911, 546 cases; 1912, 588 cases; 1913, 590 cases; grand total, 2,216 cases.

Eighty per cent of the total number filed were granted decrees; 95 per cent of the prominent applications from the Atlantic coast secured decrees. The greatest number of actions filed in any one month was 102 in December, 1913. Communities furnishing the greatest number of colonists stand in the following order: New York, California, Canada, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Illinois and Pennsylvania.

There have been recently about thirty divorcees at Reno under assumed or using their maiden names, for the purpose of covering their identity. A year ago this number was double what it is now. Many gave up this effort to prevent identification, learning from the experience of others who preceded them that it is generally useless.

About 120 of the colony have immediately remarried, at Reno in most instances, to their "affinities," who have been simultaneously living there, either also for divorces or to be with their prospective husbands or wives. In several instances each never met the other until one or the other arrived in Reno.

TIME EXTENDED

Possibly you were busy preparing for the splendid Christmas this year and have waited until now to join for 1914. You are still in time!

The Christmas Money Club

YOU MAY JOIN ANY TIME IN JANUARY

What Is It?

A Savings Plan. You make fifty weekly payments and will get your money on or before December 15, 1914.

For What Purpose?

- 1 To provide Christmas Money.
- 2 A feeder for larger savings.
- 3 To develop the savings habit.

When Can I Join?

Any time up to the end of January. First payment due December 29. Persons joining after December 29 will make back payments. Select your division and join now.

What Do I Save Each Week?

You may begin the weekly payments with 1c, 2c, 5c, 50c, or $1.00 or you may reverse the order, paying the largest amount first and decreasing the amount each week.

The 1c division will amount to $12.75.
The 2c division will amount to $25.50.
The 5c division will amount to $63.75.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 14, 1914.

THE PUBLIC DEMANDS IT.

In a leading editorial in the Indianapolis News yesterday an apparent attempt is made to give Democracy all the credit for the more rigid law enforcement and the general improvement in local government which is witnessed at this time in so many cities not only in Indiana but throughout the United States. The editorial states that reports of better conditions have come from most of the Democratic cities in the state. Such municipalities are indeed fortunate and their officials are to be commended for their stand for law and order. But what about those cities that are not under Democratic rule? Are they not also enjoying the improved conditions? We believe that they are and that the idea of better government is not confined to cities under Democratic control but that the great majority of officials, regardless of their political affiliations, are endeavoring to honestly enforce the law.

The present strong sentiment prevailing in favor of good government cannot be attributed to Democracy. It is the will of the people that the laws shall be enforced. The voters are convinced that it is far better for a community to be in the hands of law respecting officials than those who will permit open gambling, flagrant violations of the liquor laws and general lawlessness to continue unrestrained.

In the last election there was a greater tendency to forget party lines than ever before. A review of the results in Indiana cities is convincing that men and not parties were the real issues before the people. The day of the "wide-open" administration is over. The pendulum is swinging in the opposite direction and throughout the country there is a demand for officials who will respect their oath of office and who will not be influenced and controlled by a few to the detriment of the majority.

The change in sentiment extends beyond the limits of any one party. It embraces the good element of citizenship, those people who believe in the protection of the fundamental institutions of government and who propose to place in power the men who will recognize the will of the majority.

The writer of the above mentioned editorial evidently intended to pay a tribute to Democracy and in so doing overlooked the splendid work of officials elected by other parties. However, we are inclined to believe that he does take the more liberal view of the situation which he so ably sums up in the following words:

"And there can be no doubt that public sentiment demands honest, clean, efficient and strong local government. The people are sick unto death of graft and pull and unallowed relations between government and the vilely lawless classes. What they want is an honest dollar's worth of service for every dollar paid into the public treasury. They also demand that the laws shall be enforced, as they have been enforced in Indianapolis during the last week, in other Indiana cities and in New York. * * * * So it may be that decency in local administration has become fashionable. We sincerely hope so. For if that is the case nothing can arrest the present tendency. After all, why should not the people, rather than the grafters, liquor dealers, gamblers and gunmen, be the ones to benefit?"

Mr. Beach reviews the work of the Republican party and says he intends to affiliate with that organization in the future. He declares that it is where every man who believes in progress belongs. "This is no time," he continues, "for the people to help some man or set of men to simply get even with some other man or set of men. It makes no difference what the personal grievance is, governmental policies are built on a strong foundation."

Although the coal production in Indiana was more than seventeen million tons in 1913 the enormous output seems to have no noticeable effect on the price.

There may be nothing in a name but the Federals in the baseball world seem to have the same fighting tendencies of their namesakes in Mexico.

Banks to lend to small borrowers—Headline of news story.

Come, cheer up. The report sounds promising at least.

And now, Pass Christian will resume its hitherto inconspicuous place on the map.

"In fact," said Mr. Beach, "the party accomplished too much, for it not only smashed the tactics, but things in general."

"There was no call from the people for a new party in 1912. There is no call from the people now for a new party. While many of the principles of the Progressive party were right, they were not new to the country, and were and had been discussed in the councils of the Republican party, with the object in view

STEAMSHIP LOST IN BAY OF FUNDY

Mystery Attends Fate of Mail Packet, Cobequid.

CRY FOR HELP WAS SILENCED

Cape Sable Station Picked Up Wireless Call Flashed From Vessel Reporting Herself on Rocks in Midst of a Raging Sea, but Search Fails to Reveal Wreck and It is Thought the Steamer is at the Bottom.

Halifax, N. S., Jan. 14.—The Royal Mail packet steamship Cobequid driven by a gale which piled up battering seas, struck on the rocks that fringe the mouth of the bay of Fundy.

Wireless messages for help, which were cut off abruptly, were picked up by the Cape Sable station and flashed to ships in the neighborhood, and a fleet of revenue cutters and tugs felt their way through the fog looking for the wrecked ship, but without success.

It is feared now that she crashed into one of the reefs which hedge Grand Manan, an island at the entrance to the bay, and that, caught by the tide which rushes seventeen feet high through the bay, was dragged off and sank.

The Cobequid, bound for St. Johns from the West Indies, is supposed to have carried between 100 and 150 persons, including her crew of eighty seven and Captain Howson. There were five first cabin passengers. Her second cabin was filled with negroes going to Canada for domestic service.

The only messages picked up from the Cobequid direct were received at the Cape Sable wireless station. She flashed word that she was on the rocks on Brier Island with her forward hold filling with water, and a bad list. Then the spark of communication flickered and went out and the Cape Sable operator was unable to reach her again.

The message was relayed to the department of marine and then sent over the storm-whipped seas to whatever ships happened to be near. The North German Lloyd liner Kron Prinzessin Cecilie was one of these. Down from St. John, Halifax and from other ports little tugs and government steamers put out and the marine fisheries department got into communication with the light keeper at Brier Island. He said that he had seen nothing of the ship, and it is now thought that Captain Howson was driven on of his course in the snow and mist of Grand Manan for Brier Island.

The tug J. L. Cann worked her way carefully down as far as Northwest ledge and then was forced to return. She saw no sign of the Cobequid. The government steamer Lady Laurier was intercepted by wireless and ordered to help in the search. She reported very heavy weather, but no sight of the Cobequid.

The American government sent out two revenue cutters, one from Eastport and the other from Portland. They will probably confine their search to the vicinity of Grand Manan.

HAD LONG POLICE RECORD

Man Slain by Horse Thief Detective is Identified.

Indianapolis, Jan. 14.—The man shot and killed by two detectives of the Indiana Horse Thief Detective association during the pursuit which followed his detection in the act of stealing a horse at Lawrence, this county, has been identified as Emmett Straub alias Everett Strand or Strouse, a hooligan with a long police record. The fatal attempt at horse stealing followed closely on Straub's release from the Marion county jail. He had just completed a fifty-day sentence for petit larceny, and was released Monday. Straub came to Indianapolis fourteen years ago, it was said, and had lived the life of a roustabout and occasional offender ever since.

Straub was shot following an attempt to steal a horse and buggy from the barn of William Jacobs, near Lawrence, and after a chase of several miles. A number of shots were fired from revolvers by George Lyle and Isaac Curtis, when the horse thief refused to throw up his hands and surrender. The man ran fifty feet after he had been shot and fell dead in the roadway.

Director of Public Roads Gives Advice to Farmers and Others Who Wish to Make Transportation of Crops Easier. Durability of Materials Differs.

In an effort to prevent waste of millions of dollars annually in the distribution of funds for construction of public roads Logan Waller Page, director of the office of public roads of the department of agriculture, has been making scientific tests to determine what materials should be put into the roads designed to meet different kinds of traffic. It has been found that more than $1,000,000 a day is spent on construction of roads. No estimate is made of the portion of these funds that is wasted, but it is believed to mount into the millions.

Efforts are being made to teach the country that the expenditure of large sums of money on certain types of roads may result almost in a total waste. A road built of materials which

A DIP INTO SPACE

From Our Little Solar System to the Far Starry Limits.

SOME MARVELOUS DISTANCES

The Stellar Universe as We Know It and What It Means in the Matter of Miles to Reach Its Boundaries From the Center of Our Own Sun.

It is worth while making an effort to picture to ourselves the vast extent of the starry system in which we reside. Having gained some faint notion of the extent of the lesser solar system which occupies a small corner of the stellar system, we must work outward from that beginning. Let us take for our unit of measurement the space which separates the earth from the sun and let the 92,000,000 miles of this distance be represented in our minds by a single inch. In proportion the sun must be pictured by a tiny ball less than one hundredth part of an inch in diameter, while our earth must be a mere speck less than one ten-thousandth of an inch in diameter. And this little sun and this minute earth must be just an inch asunder.

Following out the same idea, Mercury and Venus, being closer to the sun than we are, have to be less than an inch away from him, while Jupiter will be five inches off, Saturn will be ten inches off, Uranus will be over nineteen inches off, Neptune will be almost thirty inches off. Then the solar system as a whole, leaving only out of the question certain comets which travel farther, will be inclosed in a circle less than two yards in diameter.

The question arises next, What will be the proportionate size of the stellar system on this same scale of measurement? If the solar system is to be comprised with a hoop not two yards across how wide a space should we allow to the surrounding system of stars, "our universe?" How near will be the nearest of outlying stars? And the answer is sufficiently startling. It is reckoned to be one inch away from our earth, if Neptune is reckoned to be less than three feet away from the sun, then on the same scale the star which lies closest of all other stars in the whole universe to us, Alpha Centauri by name, must be reckoned as lying at a distance of about three and a half miles. And between the two—nothing; at least nothing in the shape of a star. An occasional comet may lag slowly along in the darkness, finding its way from one sun system to another, and dark bodies, cooled suns, may possibly float here or there unseen by us, but of stars radiant with heat and light none is found in that wide area.

Martial law was declared throughout the entire union. The members of the cabinet are accompanied by guards of armed burghers when they go out of their homes. One hundred thousand men are under arms in the citizens corps, organized to defend property if the strikers make the expected attack.

Defense Minister Smuts, in an address to the committee of public safety, issued a warning to the strikers to the effect that if they attack property the burghers will shoot to kill and will not show the restraint of the imperial troops who refrained from firing when they were attacked by mobs last July.

The dock workers at Cape Town and at Durban have joined the strike.

ISSUED A WARNING TO THE STRIKERS

South African Burghers Will Shoot to Kill.

Pretoria, Jan. 14.—The call for a general strike throughout the union of South Africa has been issued. All miners and other organized workers were ordered to lay down their tools in sympathy with the railroad men, who are on strike as a protest against the road's policy of retrenchment.

Fruit.
Creamed Scallops.
Cauliflower.
Biscuit.
Tea.

SHELLFISH. when not obtainable in a given locality or when out of season, may be bought in the canned form. These provide material for many dainty luncheon dishes and are a boon to the housewife, as they may be kept on hand for the unexpected guest.

Clams, shrimps, lobsters, crabs and oysters may all be obtained in this form.

Some methods of using these shellfish are given here.

Dainty Salad.

Lobster Salad.—Cut the meat of a good sized lobster into half inch dice, saving out the coral. Mix with two leaves of lettuce broken into small pieces and half a cupful of mayonnaise dressing. Place heart of lettuce leaves around the edge of the salad dish or use them for cups. Fill with the lobster and cover with mayonnaise dressing, using the coral cut in small pieces and the small claws for garnish.

Scallops In Shells.

Creamed Scallops.—Dry the scallops in a napkin. Make a thick, rich white sauce with one cupful of cream, one tablespoonful of butter and two of flour. Stir until smooth and thick and season with salt and paprika. Add the scallops and simmer for one minute. Do not cook longer or scallops will toughen and shrink. Serve in scallop shells, sprinkling with bread-crums, and brown in quick oven.

Served In Scallop Shells.

Crab Farce.—Take two quarts of crab meat, one small onion, one tablespoonful of butter, six mushrooms, one pint of breadcrumbs, two tablespoonsfuls of tomato ketchup, pepper and salt to taste and one cupful of well seasoned soup stock. Chop the crab meat fine, melt the butter in a granite saucepan and add the crab meat. Chop the mushrooms and onions into small pieces and let them soak with the breadcrumbs in the stock for ten minutes. Then pour off the liquid, and add the mixture to the crab meat. Let the whole heat slowly, and after it begins to cook through let it remain on the stove about ten minutes. Remove from the fire and fill scallop shells with the mixture. Put breadcrumbs and a small piece of butter over the top of each and then bake in a quick oven until brown.

RESULTS THAT REMAIN

Are Appreciated by Seymour People.

Thousands who suffer from backache and kidney complaint have tried one remedy after another, finding only temporary benefit. This is disconcerting, but there is one kidney medicine that has earned a reputation for lasting results and there is plenty of proof of its merit right here in Seymour.

Here is the testimony of one who used Doan's Kidney Pills years ago, and now makes his testimony even stronger.

A. P. Williams, 217 S. Broadway, Seymour, Ind., says: "I suffered intensely from troubles, caused by my kidneys. I tried every remedy I heard of, but got no permanent relief until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. This remedy soon restored my kidneys to a normal condition and improved my health."

Added Praise.

During a personal interview on June 25, 1912, Mr. Williams said: "I have had no serious trouble from my kidneys since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me. I still use this remedy whenever I feel in need of a kidney tonic and I get good results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

CHAPTER XVII.

The Rest of the Family.

THE time for Señor Garavel's return having arrived, Kirk called at the bank and found not the least difficulty in gaining an audience.

"I remember you quite well, sir," said Garavel—"La Tosca." Since you are a friend of Mrs. Cortlandt I shall be delighted to serve you."

"I have something very particular to say to you," Kirk began diffidently, "but I don't just know how to get at it."

Garavel smiled graciously. "I am a business man."

"This isn't business," blurted Kirk; "it's much more important. I want to have it over as quickly as possible, so I'll be frank. I have met your daughter, Mr. Garavel"—the banker's eyes widened in a look of disconcerting intensity—"and I am in love with her—sort of a shock, isn't it? It was to me. I'd like to tell you who I am and anything else you may wish to know."

"My dear sir, you surprise me—if you are really serious. Why, you have seen her but once—a moment, at the theater!"

"I met her before that night, out at your country place. I had been hunting and on my way home through the woods I stumbled upon your swimming pool. She directed me to the road."

"But even so?"

"Well, I loved her the first instant I saw her."

"I knew nothing of this. If you had reason to think that your suit would be acceptable, why did you not come to me before?"

"I couldn't. I didn't know your name. I was nearly crazy because I couldn't so much as learn the name of the girl I loved!" Kirk plunged confusedly into the story of his meeting with Chiquita.

"That is a strange tale," said Señor Garavel when he had finished. "If you would tell me something about yourself I might know better in what light to regard this affair."

"Gladly—though there isn't much to tell. Just now I'm working on the P. R. R. as assistant to Runnels—the master of transportation, you know. I like the work and expect to be promoted. I have a little money—just enough to give me a fresh start if I should lose out here, and—oh, well, I'm poor, but honest. I suppose that's about the size of it." He paused, vaguely conscious that he had not done himself justice. "My father is a railroad man in Albany, N. Y."

"In what capacity is he employed, may I ask?"

Kirk grinned at this, and, seeing a copy of Bradstreet's on the banker's table, turned to his father's name, which he pointed out rather shame-facedly. Señor Garavel became instantly less distant.

"Of course the financial world knows Darwin K. Anthony," said he. "Even we modest merchants of the tropics have heard of him, and that his son should seek to win success upon his own merits is greatly to his credit. I congratulate you, sir, upon your excellent progress."

"I ought to tell you, sir, that I am not on good terms with my father at present. In fact, he has cast me off. That is why I am here supporting myself by hard work, instead of living in idleness. But I'm beginning to like the work—and I'll make good—I'll do it if only to show my father his mistake. That's what I care about most. I don't want his money. It's easier to make money than I thought. But I must succeed, for his sake and my own."

"May I inquire the cause of this estrangement?"

"Oh, general worthlessness on my part, I suppose. Come to think of it, I must have been a good deal of a cross. I never did anything very fierce, though." He smiled a little sadly.

A quick light of thought flashed through the banker's eyes. He was a keen judge of men.

"Well, well," he said, with a trace of impatience, "there is no need to go into the matter further. Your proposal is impossible—for many reasons it is impossible, and yet—your spirit is commendable."

"Does that mean you won't even allow me to see your daughter?"

"It would be useless."

"But I love Gertrudis," said Kirk, desperately.

Garavel looked a trifle pitying.

"You are by no means the first," he said; "I have been besieged by many who say always the same thing—without Gertrudis they cannot, they will not, they should not live. And yet I have heard of no deaths. Her marriage has been arranged."

accepting the brilliant prize which the Cortlandts had dangled so alluringly before his eyes, and the decision once made, he had entered into the scheme with all his soul. He was wise enough, however, to leave his destiny largely in their hands.

It was not long after Kirk's visit to the bank that Garavel, during a conference with the Cortlandts, took occasion to bring up the young man's name. Cortlandt had been called to the telephone, and Edith was left free to answer without constraint.

"I have seen you and him riding quite frequently," her guest remarked, with polite interest. "Is he, then, an old friend?"

"Yes, we are very fond of him. He will be promoted soon, by the way, although he doesn't know it. He is to replace Runnels as soon as he is able. Kirk is certain to succeed, and old Anthony will come round, if I know American fathers."

Garavel smiled, well pleased that he had treated his recent visitor with proper consideration. After all, why not invite the young fellow to his house? That would be rather a significant step according to Spanish custom, yet he need not be bound by it. He could put a stop to the affair at any time. Besides, despite his frequent protestations to the contrary, he was somewhat influenced by his daughter's desire for more liberty. It was not fair to her, he thought in his heart, that she should know only Ramon. One reason especially appealed to his pride. If a break came between him and Alvarez, Ramon must not appear to have jilted Gertrudis. If, meanwhile, she had another suitor, and one of distinguished family, the affair would wear a better look. It cannot be denied that the name of Darwin K. Anthony rang musically in his ears.

"The boy has the right stuff in him," Edith went on. "He began at the bottom only a few months ago, preferring to work his way up, though he was offered a first rate position to begin with."

She would have said more, but just at that moment her husband entered. "You were saying that Alvarez suspects," said Cortlandt, addressing Garavel. "Has he said anything?"

MANY EXCHANGED MILEAGE FOR STRAIGHT TICKETS

New Plan Inaugurated on B. & O.
Increased in Popularity During the Past Year.

Records of ticket sales over Baltimore and Ohio railroad lines during 1913 give strong evidence of the growing popularity of the plan which the company has had in effect for several years, of allowing passengers to exchange mileage for regular tickets, thus securing benefit of short line mileage. During 1913 the tickets sold under this arrangement are reported by the passenger department as having been a large increase over the same class of sales during any year since the rule has been in effect.

In adopting this method of meeting the convenience of the traveling public, the Baltimore and Ohio railroad recognized that frequently persons purchased mileage books and kept a certain amount of mileage coupons on hand, for ready use of members of the family or for trips hurriedly arranged. The railroad recognized that inasmuch as the mileage had been purchased and the company had derived the revenue therefor, an arrangement whereby the coupons could be exchanged for straight tickets would prove highly satisfactory.

FARRIS GIRL IS RELEASED

Federal Court Puts Matrimonial Decoy
on Her Good Behavior.

Indianapolis, Jan. 14.—Louise Farris, indicted with her parents, Martin W. and Emma Farris of Princeton, Ind., charged with using the mails in the operation of a fake matrimonial bureau, was given a suspended sentence in federal court, thus ending the case. Louise pleaded guilty when arraigned in December, but judgment was withheld and she was released to appear as a witness against her parents, who had pleaded not guilty. They changed their pleas to guilty a few days ago and were released on suspended sentence. In court she asked that she might be released without condition, but Judge Anderson refused, saying she would be free as long as she behaved, but that if she ever got into trouble again she would be re-arrested and sentenced.

Failed to Observe Signals.

Linden, Ind., Jan. 14.—One man was seriously injured, two locomotives badly damaged and several cars derailed when a Clover Leaf train ran into a Monon train at the crossing of the two roads here. Frank Henning of Lafayette, engineer of the Monon, was crushed about the waist. Both of his legs were torn and bruised. Trainmen assert that the accident was due to the engineer of the Clover Leaf failing to observe correctly the crossing signals.

A Mean Man.

Medical Man—Jobson has done the meanest thing I ever heard of. He came to my house the other night, ate a big dinner, got indigestion and then went to another doctor to be cured—Exchange.
